2000. BROWN MANUFACTURING COMPANY SOUTHERNER DERINGER serial #3443, .41 cal. RF, 2 1/2" octagon barrel with a poor bore. The barrel is an oxidized brown patina with some scattered light pitting, the underside bottom flat showing a number of light impact marks. The frame is now a tarnished goldenrod patina with some minor dings and handling marks from the years. Hammer and trigger have toned primarily to a dull gray-brown case-hardened patina. The smooth rosewood grips rate about very good, showing an old light cleaning, they are stamp-numbered to the gun. Barrel-to-frame lockup is still quite good and the gun functions well mechanically. The top barrel flat is strongly "Southerner" marked and the brass half-moon sight is intact. A very good example overall of the brass-frame Brown Manufacturing Southerner. 2001. COLLECTIBLE TOWNSEND WHELEN VOLUME This is a nice first edition, inscribed by the author: Wilderness Hunting and Wild Craft by Lt. Col. Townsend Whelen © 1927 Small Arms Technical Publishing Company. 338 pages hardcover, rating very good plus overall with tight pages showing no evident foxing but one or two of the pages have a very light liquid stain, including the inside end paper, they are very light and unobtrusive. The exterior bound in deep blue ribbed fabric with the title and name of author impressed on the front and spine in gilt; the cover as well with an impression of a moose skull (the interior shows a pen and ink drawing of the same moose skull at the end of the chapter "Finding One's Way" evidently it was shot by F C Selous, McMillan River, Yukon Territory). The top and bottom edges of the covering of the spine show some light fraying and the corners show very light dents or compression. The interior front end paper reads in an antique ink pen "with best wishes for good hunting / Townsend Whelen". The chapters include habits of big game, North American game from deer to elk to moose to sheep to bears, still hunting, stalking, finding one's way, shelter, rifles, marksmanship, photography and checklists for hunting or journeying into the wild, among many other topics. The book is illustrated with many photographs from game to mountain scenes to rifles to campsites and would be a fabulous read for any hunter or backcountry journeyer. A nice, very scarce volume overall, this one signed by the author. (36512-8D)

The metal surfaces retain about 95%, likely Niedner-applied, rust blue, the loss due to some light flaking and overall fading. The lever shows some smoky remnants of color case-hardening, rather brilliant in the area normally hidden under the frame. The very near half-length forearm rates very good plus to excellent with a few minor dents here or there but they are very sparse, and nice checkered panels left and right. The barrel is equipped with with an ivory bead front mounted in a dovetail slot and nice Lyman-style mid ivory bead. The chamber dimension is about .425" in diameter with a rim OD of about .523"-.525", with a rim thickness of about .060"; the maximum length of the chamber appears to be about 2.140". The top of the barrel is stamped "A.O. Niedner/Dowagiac Mich" in Niedner's one-piece stamp. Really a very interesting barrel from this famous and very talented gunsmith, only awaiting installation on your favorite Maynard and a bit of tinkering to come up with some cartridges. The barrel retains about 90-92% original blue, the loss is due primarily to light even fading and high edge wear. There are some very sparsely scattered spots of very light oxidation. The barrel is un-numbered and is stripped with the exception of the extractor. There is a simple silver bead half-moon front sight and no rear sight seat. A very good, somewhat unique Maynard barrel suitable for your casing with other spares. (36651-48C) [John and Jan Wills Collection]

These are designed for 45-70 caliber barrels and are inserted from the muzzle and designed to remove a stuck or separated case that remains in the chamber. 2030. COLT MODEL 1849 POCKET REVOLVER serial #43284, 31 cal. percussion, 4" barrel with a lightly pitted and frosted bore. This little revolver was made in 1852 and still retains about 50% of re-applied blue finish on the barrel with the strongest blue on the lower side of the barrel, in the protected areas with the remainder a mottled mix of gray and blue. The five shot cylinder has about 60% blue finish remaining and the stage coach scene stays strong. The receiver, loading lever, cylinder pin and hammer have faded to silver with traces of re-blued finish present. The grip frame is all brass with a mottled mix of tarnish due to coatings on the metal. It appears the grips were re-varnished and the restorer happily sopped the finish onto the fore and backstraps in the process. The smooth walnut grips are in very good condition with scattered dents, dings and scratches. All appropriate parts, including the one piece grips, are correctly numbered to the gun. The gun still functions and has the small trigger guard of the early 1849's. (86520-4026) {ANTIQUE} [Richard "Stretch" Kennedy Collection] (350/550)

2031. COLT NEW SERVICE BRITISH CONTRACT DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER serial #125507, 45 Colt, 5 1/2" barrel with an excellent bore. After this revolver was returned to the U.S. it was professionally refinished with a high polish blue. The gun currently retains about 80% re-applied blue finish with most of the loss to the cylinder, muzzle areas and high edges. The original checkered hard rubber grips are in fair condition with considerable wear to the diamond points on the right panel, lesser wear on the left panel but a 1" long x 1/8" wide chip is missing from the heel. The charge holes have been re-chambered in 45 Colt which also necessitated facing the rear of the cylinder which left light machining marks. The lanyard swivel is still present. The re-finish also removed most of the lighter proof marks, the Rampant Colt and softened the other markings. The big gun still times and locks as well as it did when it left Colt, bound for the Great War. (86927-8) {C&R} (350/550)

2032. COLT OFFICIAL POLICE DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER serial #3804, 22 LR, 6" barrel with an excellent bore. This 1934 made gun retains about 85% plus original blue finish with some wear of the high edges but most of the loss is on the grip frame from handling and has toned to gunmetal gray. The trigger retains strong blue finish with light edge wear but the hammer has worn at the top from single action cocking with very light spotted stains on the in-the-white sides. The checkered walnut factory grips with silver Colt medallions rate good to very good exhibiting compressed diamond points, a few scuffs and a number of dents from handling and use. The butt of the gun is stamped "C.P.D. 1." R.L. Wilson's Book of Colt Firearms indicates that Chicopee Massachusetts Police Department bought this model but there are no documents to verify that it is the actual department. This is a better example of an Official Police for the Colt collectors or those specializing in police trade-ins. (86520-2965) {C&R} [Richard "Stretch" Kennedy Collection] (350/550)

2033. DAN WESSON ARMS MODEL 15 VH DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER PISTOL PAC serial #373915, 357 Magnum, 8" barrel with full lug and ventilated rib exhibiting an excellent bore. The policy, for $4735 each year insures the life of the Gustave A. Lehnert, gunsmith, of Louisville Kentucky for $1000, for a 20 year period. An interesting read, it shows Gustave was born in Prussia in January of 1849, he has never had the smallpox but he has been vaccinated. He had two brothers and three sisters, it would appear both brothers died as infants. He has never used alcoholic beverages or other stimulants nor is he engaged in the sale of such. Additionally there are two receipts for payment of premium on this policy, one dated November 20, 1881 the other dated November 11, 1880. The receipts are from the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company's agents in Louisville Kentucky, Cowen & Robinson. These papers were tucked in a ledger book which shows dates from 1883-1887 and while Lehnert's name does not appear anywhere in the book it is likely his, showing numerous entries for normal everyday household goods but also entries for barreled actions and machine tools, the only real firearms names mentioned are "AG Spalding Brothers" and "Pittsburgh firearms" as well as "E. E. Eaton". The stock of guns pistols and supplies and materials on hand was worth $8800. Tools, lathes, drills and reamers were worth $800. The very last page also shows payment to the Hanover Fire Insurance Company of New York for insurance on his tools, this for the year ending 1888. The life insurance policy is very readable and mostly bright with light foxing on one of the pages and a small tear along one of the folds with some mildew and darkening on the areas of the policy that would've been exposed to the air when it was folded. The ledger book shows a separating spine, some mildew, light foxing and an antique stain on the cover which has affected a number of the pages beneath. A neat grouping overall relating to this famous and well-thought-of gunsmith. (34217)
